Accordingly, statutory liability under the SFA in relation to the contents of prospectuses would not apply. Investors should consider carefully whether the investment is suitable for them.

This Memorandum and any other document or material in connection with the offer or sale, or invitation for subscription or purchase, of any Ordinary Shares may not be circulated or distributed, nor may any Ordinary Shares be offered or sold, or be made the subject of an invitation for subscription or purchase, whether directly or indirectly, to the public or any member of the public in Singapore other than:

All of Power & Tower Holding AB (publ) activities, as with all business, come with some form of risk. It is therefore of great importance to the assessment of the company's growth opportunities that relevant risks be taken into account. The entire invested capital may be lost, and an investor should make an overall evaluation of other information in this Memorandum, along with a general environmental assessment. A number of factors beyond the company's control affect the results and financial position, as well as a number of factors whose effects the Company can influence through its actions. The risk factors listed below are considered most likely to have the greatest impact on the Company's future development. The list of possible risk factors shall not be regarded as complete, nor are the risks listed in order of impact.

The Economic Outlook and exchange rate development

External factors of a more general nature, such as supply and demand, exchange rates and financial climate, may affect the Company's operations and profitability.

Company specific risks Influential Owner

It cannot be ruled out that a group of shareholders, individuals or firms, through their ownership, may be able to exercise a significant influence over matters requiring the approval of the share-owners at a shareholders' meeting. This influence may be to the detriment of other shareholders.

Activities

Power & Tower carries out risk capital activities, which by its nature is a capital-intensive business. Regardless of any future needs or situations, terms and conditions of the offer on the venture capital market are, from time to time, of great importance to the Company's financing if such a need should arise. It is not certain that the Company will be able to procure external venture capital when needed, and there is no guarantee that the procurement of capital can be made on terms favourable to the Company's shareholders. Such a development would significantly affect the Company's performance, financial position and earnings.

Currency Risk

The Company may own shares and investments designated in foreign currencies. Upon conversion of those holdings into Swedish kronor, the Company may be exposed to effects from currency fluctuation in both its operations and on consolidation. External capital can be obtained in different currencies but will be restated and presented in Swedish krona (SEK).

Interest rate Risk

The Company may need to resort to borrowing for funding its operations in the future. Net interest expense is affected by the selected proportion of variable and fixed rate funding in relation to changes of the market interest rates. The effects of changes in interest rates on the Company's performance depend on loans and investment periods. Any future rate hikes could increase interest payments and, consequently, have an adverse effect on the Company's results and future investments.

Risks associated with investments in other companies, disputes, etc.

Investments and divestment of securities (e.g. shares and participations) in other companies always involve some risk. From one period to the next, Power & Tower could experience a high risk of exposure to individual investments or individual markets and industries. The Company may invest in shares and other negotiable securities, such as debt, in start-ups, and more specifically, assets that are more or less liquid, essentially meaning that the Company may have illiquid assets in a general market situation that could interfere with carrying out divestments, either at all or on favourable terms (the so-called "liquidity risk"). The Company has a natural obligation, as part of their business, to manage the business risks by creating a diversified portfolio of investments where these investments are distributed on unlisted and listed/listed holdings, different industries, different countries, as well as investments in different maturation stages of the Company. In addition, Power & Tower will continuously follow and analyse developments in the holdings to be able to identify, protect and manage opportunities, risks and issues.

Tax situation, etc

Power & Tower fiscal results could differ from the accounting profit as the Company continuously evaluates its balance sheet at fair value with regards to financial instruments. Because the law and its interpretation within taxation may change from time to time, the Company is exposed to changes in rules or assessments that could cause higher than estimated tax expense for the Company. An increased tax expense will affect the Power & Tower's reported results and payout ability.

Future investments

Power & Tower's value development will mainly be generated by dividends and increases in the value of holdings. Consequently, the Company's future development largely hinges on the availability of, and the Company's own ability to identify, attractive potential investment targets, as well as implementing and financing the acquisition.

Economic development and other external factors

Economic development and other events abroad has a significant impact on the Company's operations. Changes in the economy can mean that the Company's revenues and earnings may fluctuate significantly over time. Other events in the world, such as disaster, war or acts of terrorism can significantly impair the Company's ability to conduct operations, both directly and indirectly.

Sales capability and future capital needs

It should not be left unsaid that it often takes longer than expected before the Company's Board of Directors can attain positive cash flow, nor can it be ruled out that Power & Tower may seek new external capital in the future. There is no guarantee that it can be acquired on favourable terms for shareholders.

Failure to generate sufficient profits can negatively affect the Company's market value.

Risk factors related to Stock trading in a listed company

Investments of the relevant nature to this investment can often be difficult to predict, making it difficult to pre-empt negative changes. Potential changes to the composition of the owner cannot be ruled out, whereby the Company's policy may deviate from that set by the Board of Directors.

A market of this kind poses less stringent requirements on the Company regarding, among other things, disclosure, transparency or corporate governance, compared to the demands placed on companies whose shares are listed on a regulated market (the "stock exchange"). An investment in a company whose shares are traded on an MTF can be more risky than an investment in a listed company.

The share's liquidity

At present, there is no regulated trade in the shares of Power & Tower Holding Corporation. Liquidity in the trading of the Company's shares may, therefore, be limited. This may further the fluctuations in the stock price. Limited liquidity in the share may also cause problems for the owner to sell its shares. There is no guarantee that the shares in Power & Tower can be sold at any given time to one of the holders at an acceptable course.

Future dividends

Since its foundation, Power & Tower has not distributed any dividends to shareholders. It is the management's intention using the generated profits over the next few years to expand the Company's operations and consolidate its position in the market.

The general meeting mediates the distribution of dividends to shareholders based on the prevailing conditions for the business. Opportunities for increasing the value of shares over the next few years lies, thus, mainly in rising stock prices.

Taxes and fees

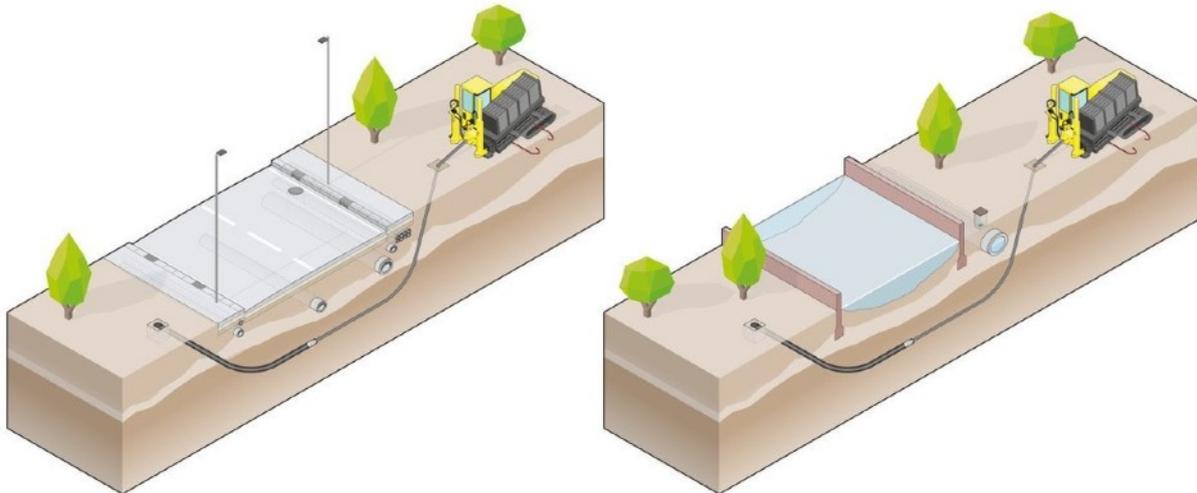

It is possible that changes in legislation concerning fees, taxes, and the like, could result in less advantageous investments in securities.

Control over the Company

Upon the Company's shares being officially traded on a stock exchange, the ownership structure may change over time. Changes in the composition of the ownership cannot be ruled out, whereby the Company's policy may deviate from that set by the Board of Directors.

Risks related to unidentifiable subscription commitments and issue guarantees

The stock market prices can generally go down for various reasons, such as rate hikes, political gambit, exchange rates and poor economic conditions. The stock market is also characterised by psychological factors. Shares in Power & Tower are affected in the same way as any other company.

Overview of the technology

The founders and majority owners have years of experience in the field of Horizontal Directional Drilling (HDD). The method originated in connection with gas and oil exploration and is now used for underground pipes, conduits and cables. It is about knowledge to geologically examine the area to be drilled as well as knowledge of how to drill horizontally with a small special machine in urban and suburban areas.

The drilling rigs are manufactured in the USA and Holland and are used in North America for all types of pipework, enabling the crossing of obstacles in an environmentally friendly way, thus contributing to a reduction of carbon footprint.

Business idea

Power & Tower's business idea is to deliver services and solutions to customers who demand a broad technical knowledge in communications infrastructure projects such as broadband fibre installations.

The Opportunity

A year ago, the Company carried out a Pre-IPO issue preparing for a listing on the Swedish Nordic Growth Market NGM. Today, the Company has about 200 shareholders and now needs an additional 100 to qualify for a listing. The operations in the USA have been consolidated in 2018. Level 3, the largest customer to the Southern Engineering & Construction Corp ("SECC") became part of CenturyLink on November 1, 2017. Shortly thereafter CenturyLink has made an inquiry for the subsidiary SECC in Florida to provide major projects which will multiple revenues. Also other customers have inquired the Company to provide with additional number of installation services.

The Company is currently focused on creating and building solutions for the next generation of communications networks.

Services currently offered

- Network Design, Planning & Permitting
- Network Installations
- Horizontal Directional Drilling & Digging
- Air Placement
- Fibre installation
- Fibre Welding and testing
- Connection to communication networks
- Geological surveys & Permits
- Support & Maintenance

In 2017 the Company had approximately $2.7 million dollars in revenues and is expected to stay on the same trajectory in 2018. The net result on each order is about 15%.

Major customers in the US are:

CenturyLink is the second largest domestic communications provider serving global enterprise customers, with 2017 pro forma annual revenue of more than $24 billion.

Crown Castle with $3.7 billion in annual revenue provides infrastructure for broadcasting, mobile telephony and wireless broadband including small cell, traditional cell sites, rooftop sites and indoor/outdoor distributed antenna systems.

FiberLight is a 20-year telecommunications veteran and are led by some of the industry's most well-respected experts.

The infrastructure is neglected in the US while market demand increases annually 10 percent. The US growth rate is up-to $5 billion. SECC has to present date mainly been active in Florida. The Company is now planning to expand to more states on the East Coast.

Share issue for distribution of ownership

The Company has currently 200 shareholders and now needs an additional 100 shareholders in order to qualify for a listing on the Swedish market place Nordic Growth Market NGM AB (Market: NMTF, Segment: MST). The operations during 2017 have been successful. A rights issue is now being implemented to attain a sufficient number of shareholders to qualify for a listing to trade the stock. The principal owners understand the importance of Power & Tower becoming a listed entity and has therefore decided to give away extra bonus shares to subscribers to new shares. The free shares will be distributed according to the principle that the larger the number of shares subscribed to, the more free shares the subscriber will receive from the majority shareholder.

All over this amount gives 30% more additional shares from the majority owner.

Planned acquisitions

During 2017, the management of the Company has identified several targets in England and Sweden interested in conducting negotiations with the Company. Currently Power & Tower is focusing on two targets within Communications Infrastructure.

The vendors of the target companies would consider being paid out partly in cash and stock over a 36 month period.

The target candidate in Sweden is of the same size as the subsidiary SECC in Florida, while the English candidate has four-fold revenues compared to SECC. The planned acquisitions in Sweden and England will more than double the current group revenues.

The management of the Company has a long experience in building and developing companies. A board of four professionals and a highly savvy and experienced external CEO who worked with international companies will take the Company to listing. The Board of Directors consists of two Americans and two Swedes.

SECC is expected to grow faster organically than in the past. SECC has received an inquiry from CenturyLink to fulfil orders that could exceed $10 million in annual revenues.

Competition

Most companies in Sweden are smaller contractors with no technical expertise in prospecting and horizontal directional-drilling ("HDD"). They typically excavate open trenches, a method that makes it impossible to operate over the entire year due to ground frost during winter season. With the HDD technology network installations are possible throughout the year. HDD allows for pipes and utilities to be installed around obstacles such as water, railroads, buildings, and roads. This is a clear competitive advantage.

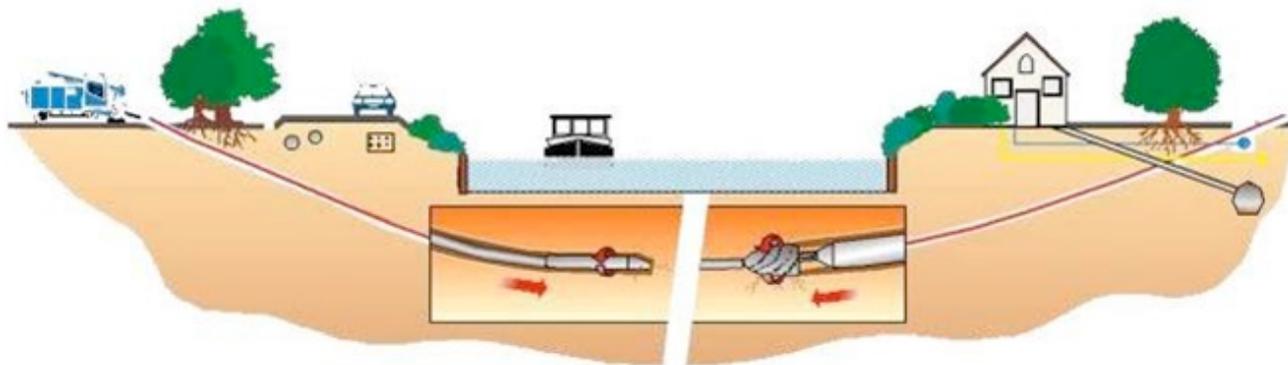

Main arguments for Power & Tower

The method of network installations by drilling makes trenching streets in urbanised areas a thing of the past. Though it is not only technologically advanced but also fast and highly cost-effective.

Few operators offer a combined service of prospecting drilling and installation. It is also essential to mention that HDD does not require large crew teams and technical equipment such as excavators and heavy trucks.

Environmentally friendly technology

Trenching and cutting cause great disturbances to environmentally sensitive areas. In the past there was no other option. Today HDD offers a much safer and more environmentally protective alternative. The market demands a cost effective and eco-conscious choice for broadband fibre installations. With the HDD method obstacles can be avoided in an environmentally friendly way, thus contributing as well to a reduction of the carbon footprint. Thus the HDD method makes it possible for drilling installations even in archeologically sensitive areas.

With authorisation given by the extraordinary general meeting of Power & Tower Corporation on 17 July 2017, the Board has decided on a new rights issue for the Company's existing shareholders and for the general public for share not subscribed to.

The share capital will increase through the issue by no more than SEK 10,857,257.60 from SEK 40,714,716.00 to a maximum of SEK 51,571,973.60 through the issuance of a maximum of 2,714,314 shares to a total of 16,285,886 shares, each with a nominal value of SEK 0.42. Each share in Power & Tower Corporation held on the record date 7 June 2018, gives pre-emption rights on shares to this issue.

Upon full subscription of shares in the issue, the Company will receive approximately SEK 10.8 million before issue and guarantee expenses, the total of which is estimated to be approximately SEK 800,000.

The issuance entails a maximum dilution of capital of 16% and maximum dilution of votes with 10.6%, calculated as the maximum number of shares that may be issued by issuance divided by the number of outstanding shares following completion of the rights issue.

SECC has had a long-standing relationship with Century-Link (Level 3), FiberLight and Fibernet Direct dating back to their predecessor companies.

Previous rights issue

Since Power & Tower acquired SECC in the autumn of 2017, the Company has made a rights issue to increase the ownership. Presently the Company has over 200 shareholders and is now looking to add another 100.

The Board of Directors of Power & Tower Holding AB (publ).

A platform for growth

During 2017 Power & Tower successfully established a solid platform for profitable growth. Our vision is to expand Power & Tower's revenues through organic growth by increasing services on the existing market segments and create synergistic business acquisitions, resulting in overall financial growth.

In July 2017, Power & Tower Holding AB (P&TH) acquired the Florida based communications infrastructure company Southern Engineering & Construction Corp. (SECC). SECC was founded in 2002 to serve the telecommunications industry and is a full service company that performs a multitude of services in the field of fibre installation from engineering, planning, design to fibre management to on-site services that includes controlled directional drilling, trenching, antenna placement, fibre optic installations, fibre welding and testing. Currently, SECC is active in the Southeastern United States. the Company has plans for expansions both in North America and Europe. There is a great need for an enlarged infrastructure with fibre-optic cables in the US and this creates a space for SECC to grow for many years to come.

With a solid experience from telecom and having served as CEO of one of Tele2 's subsidiaries, I am confident that we can create growth and increased shareholders value. We represent a well established business with more than 15 years track records. The opportunity for growth is based on an urgent need for further expansion of the fibre networks.

Competitive advantage

SECC's long standing professional relationship and dedication to their customers earns them a preferred Contractor status. SECC's customers rely on their extensive knowledge on wide range of conditions and requirements. SECC' services includes advanced project due diligence as well as preliminary pricing matrixes and assisting in establishing protocols and budgets. SECC has an advantage over their peers by providing in-house turnkey capabilities that include planning, engineering and permitting. This enables SECC to be involved with a project at an early stage and giving the clients an advanced notice on their planned projects. This also makes it possible for SECC to do its own in-house planning to maximise efficiencies in managing work flows on the construction sites, resulting in increased profit margins.

Cost reducing technology

SECC uses a unique technology to drill horizontally instead of trenching. This eliminates the need to dig up streets at high costs. The HDD technology makes production faster and at a lower cost. The problem with disruptive activities like asphaltting and shutting down streets and roads lapses. The HDD technology is of great interest to the European markets, as it brings considerably low cost advantages and promotes the so long awaited environmentally friendly solutions. SECC also has an advantage over its competitors by providing built-in turnkey features that include planning, technology and licensing. This makes it possible for SECC to be part of early stage projects with advanced information to provide to its clients.

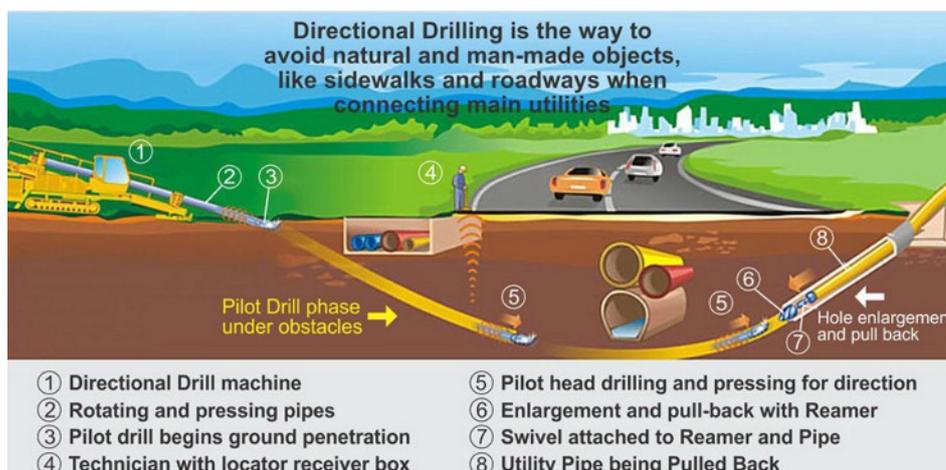

Opportunities to expand

A substantial expansion of the fibre networks is needed because we are increasingly dependent on the ability to transmit and receive large amounts of data over the Internet. In addition, cell towers must be connected through a dense fibre network in order for the mobile broadband to be supplied with sufficient capacity.

Power & Tower is facing growth opportunities. Currently the existing customer base in the densely populated areas of Florida, such as Orlando, Tampa and Jacksonville has created a great demand. Ongoing projects include the deployment of existing infrastructure, both excavated fibre and wireless as well as services to end users.

Our goal is to thrive on the strong market need. With our cost effective and environmentally friendly HDD technology, we will not only expand in the U.S. but also establish our presence in significant markets of Europe.

Genesis and development of the business

In 2016, the Swedish parent company Power & Tower Corporation (publ) in a first step, acquired the Florida Corporation Kerr Electrical Repair, Inc. from Erik J Kerr and the Florida limited liability company Power and Tower Technologies, LLC from Raimundo Dias, Julian (Chip) Bryan.

In the beginning of 2018, in order to focus on the core business, the Board of the Company decided to exit its holding in Kerr Electrical Repair, Inc. a company that has been involved in LTE, microwave and wireless communications. The disinvestment has caused a capital loss that could be balanced by depreciating one million shares previously held by Erik J Ker to balance the value.

During 2017 Power & Tower Holding AB acquired 100 % of the shares of the Florida based Southern Engineering & Construction Corp. ("SECC") and in one step established a growth platform as a communication infrastructure company. SECC continued to deliver a solid growth during 2017 into the quarter of 2018 and is now the core holding of Power & Tower Holding AB. SECC with its more than 15 years of profitable operations represents the core business Power & Tower is offering.

A Communication Infrastructure Company

The Company offers full service for the telecom industry and a multitude of services in the field of fibre installation:

- Engineering
- Planning
- Design

- Fibre management
- Controlled horizontal directional drilling
- Digging and trenching
- Antenna placement
- Fibre optic installations
- Fibre welding and testing

Based on this platform, Power & Tower has set the strategy to growth not only organically but also to target acquisitions both in the US and the Northern European markets with profitable communication infrastructure companies.

SECC Key Clients

Over its more than 15 years of operations SECC has built an impressive list of clients. As supplier of communication infrastructure services to multi billion operation companies, SECC has earned the position of key supplier. The Company is known to deliver top quality installations on budget and always on time. By the end of 2017 the long time client Level3 was acquired by Century Link forming a $22 billion revenue company. SECC has now signed new master contracts with the new merged entity Century Link. This kind of structural changes open up for new opportunities to faster growth already in 2018.

CenturyLink (NYSE: CTL) is the second largest U.S. communications provider to global enterprise with annual revenue of more than $24 billion.

Crown Castle is one of the largest providers of communication infrastructure in US with more than $3,6 billion in annual revenue.

Business model strategy

Power & Tower's mission is to provide a one-stop shop for its clients that includes everything from planning, permitting installation and maintenance.

Sources of monetisation:

- A. Engineering, Planning & Design
- B. Installations
- C. Fibre Management

On going development

SECC has an attractive growth opportunity based on its existing clients' urgent need to develop large foot print in all major Metro areas of Florida and the West of the US. These projects include the expansion of existing underground and aerial Fibre Optic infrastructure as well as services to the end users.

What SECC has done

SECC was established in 2002 to service the telecommunications industry. The Company has developed to a full-service contract company, capable of performing all aspects of engineering from route development, design, permitting as well as ISP design.

The construction side services include HDD, open excavation, aerial placement, fibre optic installation, splicing and testing. In 2017 SECC had four crew teams operating out of Sunrise, Florida. The Company has a maintenance facility located in Lake Placid Florida. The full service engineering department works out of the Sunrise location.

Competitive advantage

SECC has an advantage over their peers by providing in-house turnkey solutions that include planning, engineering and permitting. This enables the Company to be involved with a project at the early stages giving an advanced notice of most projects planned by its clients. This also enables SECC to perform its own in-house planning to maximise efficiencies in managing its work flow on the construction side, resulting in increased margins.

SECC's long standing professional relationship and dedication to their clients has created a preferred Contractor status. SECC's clients rely on the professionals' extensive knowledge on wide range of conditions and requirements in the area to help provide advanced project due diligence. In addition the Company provides preliminary pricing matrixes to assist in establishing protocols and budgets.

SECC's operates under the direction of its founder Jeffrey Williams. His career began in 1982 in the telecom industry as an apprentice lineman installer. From that point on he spent 20 years working and learning every aspect of the industry ending as an Executive Vice President of a major contracting company prior to forming SECC. Jeff credits his success in the opportunity he was given to experience hands on the interworking's of all facets of the operations. He continues to promote this philosophy and method of cross training and promotion from within as first choice at SECC, thus creating a strong well rounded and growing work force.

Global Trends

There are a number of industries leading the current changes brought about by the digital evolution – but none more so than the ICT industry. This sector alone has been transformational in developing the appropriate infrastructure, services and equipment required to underpin our societies of the future.

The enormous shift towards digital technologies continues to escalate and the way the world communicates, conducts business, socialises, receives healthcare and education is under-going a massive change. The way we design and build our cities is also evolving as cities around the world make tangible plans and infrastructure decisions to support the future Smart Cities.

The underlying trends of M2M, Big Data Analytics, Cloud Computing and the over-arching Internet of Things will continue to grow from strength to strength in 2018.

In general, the telecoms operators will focus more heavily on customer retention and churn in the face of dwindling revenues, while also improving mobile and fixed broadband infrastructure with the future in mind. The apps and services generated by digital technologies, including video streaming, will continue to place great pressure on infrastructure and bandwidth.

The large operators are continuously seeking new revenue streams, including moving into vertical and international markets. This will result in an increasing amount of consolidation and acquisition in 2018 as companies re-position themselves and jostle for market share.

4G LTE deployment is a key trend around much of the world and in appropriate markets there is also a keen investment in fixed broadband based on fibre. 5G developments have also gained pace and will continue to be a key area of focus in 2018.

Many of the operators in the emerging markets will focus primarily on mobile infrastructure with lower priced smart phones becoming a dominant trend. Mobile broadband infrastructure is becoming increasingly important in the emerging markets of Middle East, Asia, Africa and Latin America, as the large populations place more and more demand on existing infrastructure.

International bandwidth continues to be primarily connected via US and Canada – however North America's long held dominant position in this regard is declining and Europe's role is increasing.

Competition and SECC advantage

Power & Tower faces a promising growth opportunity based on SECC's existing customer's need to expand its infrastructure and large foot print in all the major Metro areas in the U.S., The future projects include the expansion of existing underground and aerial Fibre Optic infrastructure and services to the end users.

SECC did $1.9mm in revenue for 2016 with a projected run-rate for 2017 of over $2.7 million. With additional funding to provide for expansion of crews and equipment, SECC could surpass $12 million in 2019.

The summary is intended as a general guide and is not a complete examination of all taxation issues that may arise in the context. The assessment of the tax situation of each individual shareholder depends partly on the respective shareholder's or owner's specific circumstances. The share has for some shareholders been subject to a share swap, and specific rules may apply for these shareholders, something that is not addressed in this summary. This summary does not, for example, address the special regulations regarding what are referred to as qualified shares in closely held companies or partnership rights owned by trading companies or limited partnership companies or such legal entities whose holding of partnership rights is regarded as current assets in a business operation. Certain tax consequences which are not described may also arise for other categories of shareholders, including investment companies, mutual funds and individuals who are not tax residents in Sweden.
